Note: Enrollment is unduplicated by major combination and unique student identifier. Majors reflect Fall semester enrollment only. The headcount equals the total number of unique students with this double-major combination over the last five years. The percentage is calculated by dividing the headcount (defined above) by the total number of unique students who had a double major during the reporting period. Only majors that represent 1.5% or more of the double major population are reported here. Enrollment excludes study away students.
